El Paso Museum of History Opens New Community Exhibition

Musica Sin Fronteras: Twentieth Century to Now

EL PASO, Texas—The El Paso Museum of History invites the community to explore the vibrant and diverse musical landscape that has thrived along the border throughout the 20th century to the present with the new exhibition Musica Sin Fronteras: Twentieth Century to Now.

From dynamic musicians to iconic bands, from eclectic genres to renowned studios and venues, the exhibit celebrates the rich tapestry of musical heritage that calls the borderlands home.

“The El Paso Museum of History is privileged to showcase the remarkable breadth of music, influence, and communities that have emerged from the Frontera music scene,” said El Paso Museum of History Director Erica Marin. “This exhibition is a testament to the rich traditions and unique voices that define El Paso's musical identity.”

Musica Sin Fronteras delves into the evolution of diverse musical communities, venues, and cultures that emerged during the economic boom at the turn of the century, shaping the unique identity of the Frontera music scene. The immersive experience not only recognizes but also revels in the profound contributions to national and international music landscapes, offering visitors an unforgettable sonic experience.

Musica Sin Fronteras: Twentieth Century to Now* opens to the public from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday, April 27.

The El Paso Museum of History is free and open to the public. For more information on the El Paso Museum of History and other exhibitions, programs and events, visit www.EPMuseumOfHistory.org/
