The process of redrawing district boundaries is conducted every ten years in alignment with the U.S. Census. The process is undertaken to guarantee equal voter representation.

Once finalized, the new districting map will remain in place for the next 10 years, or until the 2030 U.S. Census data is released. The City's Districting Commission plans to submit a final map proposal to the City Council in April 2022 and the Council is expected to adopt a final map in July 2022.

The public can learn more about the City's Districting Commission, visiting ElPasoTexas.gov/ShapeEP.
